WELCOME!

Methodist Ministers From All Parts of the State Gathered in our Town For Annual Conference.

HOMES THROWN OPEN AND A GLAD WELCOME IS EXTENDED TO ALL.

Methodist ministers from all over the State are here attending the Annual Conference that began Wednesday morning as announced in last week's Advocate, and the session will continue until next Monday night.

This is the third time that the Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has been held in Barboursville. The first gathering here was in 1883, and the second in 1890.

Bishop Warren arrived Wednesday afternoon, and will preside during the conference.

One feature that interests the citizens here most is the future of Union College. This is the only school of its kind in the Kentucky mountains, and is entirely under the control of the Board of Education of the Kentucky Methodist Conference.

This college was established in the most part by funds given the Board of Education by Mrs. Fannie Speed, and she also paid the salary of the President of the school until her death, which occurred in 1902.

After her death the Board of Education secured by her will, for the purpose of education, about $260,000, and as she was instrumental in establishing and keeping Old Union College on foot during her lifetime, the Board of Education is now expected to do a good part for this college with the funds left in their hands.

"Speed Hall," the large dormitory, now almost completed, should be finished, and this would furnish accommodations for boarding students who would attend school here but for the fact that there is no place for boarding students, thus keeping the attendance at the school small.

Union College has a broad field to draw from if it only had the new dormitory completed so as to furnish the necessary accommodations, but work was stopped on this building several months ago, when the funds that were on hand became exhausted.

This session bids fair to be a very important meeting, as there are a number of important matters that will come up before the body.

The sessions are being held in the chapel of Union College. Little was done the first day but examine a few applicants for the ministry. They were: D. W. Brown, London, Ky.; A. G. Ragan, Williamsburg, Ky.; W. B. Walsh, and A. P. Smith.

Many of the prominent ministers in attendance are former students of Union College, and most of them spent their time Wednesday shaking hands with friends here, or sitting under the shade trees in the college campus discussing old times, when Dr. Stephenson was President of the college, and President J. P. Faulkner was a student like themselves.

Wednesday night Bishop H. W. Warren made an interesting address in the chapel of the college.

The Circuit Court Clerk vacates his office and permits it to be used for that purpose.

We do not believe the thinking people of Knox county desire that this state of affairs should exist when there could be a new house erected with all the modern improvements and conveniences without increasing the tax rate to amount to anything.

We hope that there will be some steps taken along that line before the opening of another summer comes, and give the people of Knox a chance to express themselves at the polls upon this question.

INTEREST

In the Commercial Club Growing and Prospects are Becoming Flattering for New Enterprises Here.

At the Club meeting last Monday night there were several new members present, and new topics were taken up and discussed, and on some of them action was taken.

The question of our town having a water works plant was discussed at length, and the need of a system was not disputed by anyone.

It was agreed and ordered that a committee be appointed to draft articles of incorporation, and also to solicit stock for the establishment of the plant in town.

A number of other improvements were discussed but action was deferred until the next meeting, which will be next Monday night, when it is hoped that other citizens will come out and join the Club and show some interest in the steps that are being taken.

ing taken to develop our town. Now, if the people of Barboursville will awaken and give attention, the opportunity is here when we can secure a system of water works, which is one of the crying needs of our town, and there are plenty men here who have plenty surplus money that they could invest in the enterprise and build it without going away from home for a dollar.

Once the plant is put in it could be operated at such a small cost as to make it a profitable investment from the beginning and be a saving to the property owners. The large property owners here cannot afford to stand back on this proposition, because of the fact it would reduce the price of insurance to such a nominal amount that the money saved in this one item would more than pay the interest on the money invested.

Think about these matters and let's act as sensible people who want to see our town prosper, and let's have a system of water works installed in Barboursville before the snow flies.

We have already heard one good man say he will subscribe $1,000 toward the enterprise; let's have about ten more men who will be as liberal, or more men with even a less subscription, and the movement will soon be on foot.

Don't stand back and talk about it, but act, and act at once. Come out to the Club next Monday night.

Notice, Republicans!

There will be a meeting at the Court-house on Saturday, October 1st, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of organizing a local Campaign Committee. All candidates and other loyal Republicans are respectfully invited to be present and assist in the organization.

NOTABLE CAREER ENDED.

COL. DAVID G. COLSON

Ex-Congressman From This District Died at His Home in Middlesborough, Last Tuesday Evening.

Hon. David G. Colson, former Congressman from this, the 11th district, died at his home in Middlesborough last Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock of nervous collapse.

While in Congress Mr. Colson was made Colonel of the Fourth Kentucky regiment, and went at the head of the company to Antietam, Md. During his stay there he was shot and wounded by Ethelbert Scott. After the return of the soldiers to Kentucky and the company was mustered out of the service, the old trouble was renewed at Frankfort, and Scott was shot and instantly killed by Col. Colson. In this affray there were two innocent men killed and a third man, Capt. B. B. Golden, wounded by a stray ball. Col. Colson was again wounded in this affray, but finally recovered.

He was known far and near as being a brave, true and loyal friend, and the vacancy caused by his death will be hard indeed to fill.

Mr. Edwards was then called upon for a speech, and responded with a splendid effort. The committee then adjourned.

We are truly glad that this matter has been finally settled and that the public may know who the nominee of the party is.

We propose to support the nominee and vote under the Log Cabin, and we urge upon all loyal Republicans to do likewise, and we believe they will do so.

It is not so much the man we favor as the party that is represented, and now we want to see the old Eleventh district roll up a majority larger than ever before for the great Republican ticket.

While the contest was pending a number of Edwards supporters were heard to express themselves against supporting Dr. Hunter should he succeed in holding his certificate, but we failed to hear a single Hunter voter say he would not support Edwards if he should secure the nomination. Now let's all get together and give to the nominee our hearty support and elect him by the largest vote ever given a Republican in this district, and after election we can prepare for the future in whatever course we may choose to take, but for the present let's all support the nominee of the party.

are followed the next day by notes of commendation and congratulation from those who enjoy such fulminations and believe in the efficacy of that method of campaigning. First among those applauding the last of such editorials is none other than Judge Parker himself. He calls it in a signed statement, "vigorous, trenchant and notable," adding that it should be "read, marked and digested by all."

We cannot but wonder if Judge Parker, similarly placed, would likewise have indorsed the course of the World upon another occasion when a national campaign was in progress and election day rapidly approaching. Ably edited, then as now, the World wielded no small amount of influence when McClellan opposed Lincoln in 1864. Then, as now, its chief stock in trade and political capital consisted of abuse and vilification.

On Thursday, October 27, 1864, it gave utterance to the following "vigorous, trenchant and notable" expression of opinion:

"Re-elect Lincoln, and out of the black night of national ruin and bankruptcy, the dismembered republic will inevitably emerge in a chaos-like that of Germany, after 'Thirty Year's War.'

Again on October 28, 1864, said:

"We have borne the folly, the insolence, the curse, and the outrages of this weak and wicked administration, until we have no more patience left. We must have a change of rulers, or all is lost that freemen care to live for."

What answer did the people make? That year, as this election came on November 8, and after "reading, marking and digesting" the abuse of the World they re-elected Abraham Lincoln by an overwhelming majority, just as they this year will re-elect Theodore Roosevelt.

History repeats itself, and we congratulate the World upon its consistency—Lexington Sunday Leader.

HENRY WATTERSON betrays a lack of true Kentucky grit. He announces that he is going to Europe immediately after the election. He should remain on his native shores and face the terrible consequences that he has prefigured in the success of Roosevelt, even if it means for him beheading or life imprisonment in the deepest and darkest dungeon.

A CARD.

Barbourville, Sept. 27, 1904.

To the Republicans of Knox County:

After mature consideration I have decided to withdraw from the rank of the Republican organization for Jailer of Knox county. My extreme age and continued ill-health have been instrumental in leading me to this determination. However, I am not unmindful of the many promises of support my friends have avowed, and am indeed grateful for them. And to one and all I desire to express my heartfelt gratitude.

Again thanking them, I am
Faithfully yours,
POMP MILLS.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join in the Home Circle at Evening Reveries.

Are you ever discouraged, fellow man?

Do you ever feel puny and poor and small?

Do you ever while doing the best we can?

Get to wondering what is the use of it all?

Oh isn't it pleasant in such an hour To be met by one who has cheerful ways?

Who approves your work and admires your power.

Oh isn't it bracing to hear his praise? Does it ever lodge in your heart, O friend?

Doubt of your worth and doubt of your wit?

Does it ever appear that you come to the end?

You feel sometimes a longing to quit?

To give up the hope, to accept defeat,

To sink into rest and pass out of sight?

In such a dark hour, oh, isn't it sweet?

To be praised for your worth, your work or your might?

Perhaps you met some one a moment ago

Who felt, O friend, as you often do,

Who, had you paused a fair word to bestow,

Would have gained new strength and new courage too?

The words of cheer and the words of pain?

That cost so little may have such worth;

Oh, I wonder why in our selfish ways,

We let each other be crushed to earth.

sire to congratulate you upon your Home Circle Column. It alone is worth to me many times the subscription price of the paper. Now with your permission will make a few suggestions that I feel sure will be endorsed by the many mothers who read your Home Circle Column.

I have thought much and much has been said and written about "Where is my boy to-night?" As a mother who has several daughters and no boy, I would like this inquiry changed so as to read, "Where is my girl to-night?" With pangs of remorse one must admit, that in our community at least, many of our girls who have good homes are on the streets seven nights in the week. They wander listlessly about, no object in view.

They bring upon themselves slighting remarks from street loafers. They gossip and flirt with young men, who they blush with shame to have enter their homes. My girls would not desire to loaf upon the streets and in the stores if others did not do so. Can we not as mothers organize, and in some manner, prevent this growing evil, that soom-er or later is sure to destroy the happiness of our homes. Would it not be much better for our girls to spend their evenings at home in mental improvement, or if they prefer to meet at each other's homes.

Anything to keep them off the streets. They lose the respect of all good citizens and sooner or later will lose all respect for themselves.

Respectfully submitted by

A MOTHER.

THE HOME.

"THAT only Paradise which surrounds the fall."

Home is mother's province; her empire, over which she is, emphatically, "monarch of all she surveys." She has here all the essentials of happiness, and if she is skillful in the use of materials she may build a shrine for her household gods more dear and dazzling to the heart and eye than all the storied fairies of antiquity.

How careful should she be, then, to mould her actions and modulate her voice in shape and tones of purest harmony! How zealously should she apply herself to make only skill and faultless notes from the complicated instrument that responds so faithfully to her touch. How consummate should be her tact in touching the key-note of character in husband, children, servants, relatives and friends. How should she attune their hearts to love and reverence her in every relationship! What delicate studies come under her observation and intuition for each day and hour of her life! How many and how precious are the ones who look to her for daily happiness; as well as for daily comforts, and how bright a spot of sunshine she may make of her circumscribed and undisputed realm!

Mother, wife, daughter, sister, is it not in your power to make some one happy? Do you abandon thoughts of self sufficiently to make their happiness more consequence than your own? Do you use all your gentle arts and influences to attain an object so desirable? Then you do not have to seek your own contentment. It comes to you in realization that there is one heart, at least, dependent upon you for happiness. And if you realize also that the variation of a tone carries a weight, that the expression of a smile, a glance, the significance of a word, an action, may make or mar the sunshine of a day for that one; and if you regard this trust more sacredly than the keeping of the most precious jewel—then you need not feel the rivalry of strange women, nor rum shops, nor any other business or pleasure. Thus the charm of your presence gladdens the spot made most holy on earth, bearing the sacred title of home.

CORRESPONDENCE.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

All correspondents who write for this paper are requested to report the news briefly and confine themselves to news. Puffs for merchants come under the head of paid locals, and would be inserted at the rate of 5 cents per line, otherwise we must pencil them.

Be careful not to write anything that will prove offensive to any one; a good joke is appreciated by all, but we want to make friends and not enemies of all with whom we come in contact.

Write on only one side of your paper and be sure to sign your own name to the manuscript—not for publication but for future reference and to show good faith—a failure to do this will hereafter necessarily consign your letters to the waste basket.

Please read these notes and bear them in mind, and write on one side of the paper only.

Respectfully,
THE EDITOR.

Cannon.

We had a nice rain last night.

At the Association last Sunday, the 25th, the people of Locust Grove seemed to take great pleasure in accommodating their visitors during their stay among them.

J. W. Smith and Godfrey Jackson made a flying trip up from Oneida to attend the Association and to see homefolks, and returned Monday.

Rev. John Root and Chas. Peck and others were guests of James Brooks and wife during the Association, and preached some eloquent sermons at Sinking Valley; also Bro. Allen preached for us. Come again, brothers. GRIT.

Ola, Ky.

Lots of rain and the farmers are jubilant.

Noah Hammonds and Nelson Craft formerly of Car's Fork, Knott county, were visiting friends at this place last week.

Grant Craft, of Big Stone Gap, has been here the past two weeks doing some fine work with his new camera, and will return home in a few days.

Billy Adams, whose name appeared in the ADVOCATE a few issues since, is improving nicely with his broken arm.

Patrick Blair and wife, of Colly, visited Charley Blair, at Ola, Saturday and Sunday.

Archie J. Webb, of the burg, will visit friends and relatives on Line Fork this week.

The Cown and the Colly baseball teams played a match game Saturday. The score stood 2 to 5 in favor of Cown.

Willard Webb and Miss Nannie Craft set sail on the sea of matrimony Monday night. May their life be a happy and prosperous one is the wish of the writer.

"Allow us to compliment on the excellent condition of your poultry." This note was left in the henry of Wm. Collins, a Knott county farmer. What is supposed to be a regular organized band of chicken thieves have been operating in this county for the past month. Notes of complimentary nature are left in every poultry yard robbed. In one case the bones of the stolen fowls were turned to the original owner with effusive thanks. The farmers have determined to break up the gang and have organized for the purpose. A fund is being raised for the purpose of employing skilled sheriffs to hunt down the robbers. WHITE ROSE.

Oxford.

Dear Editor and readers of the ADVOCATE please admit me to say a few words as I haven't been with you for some time. I feel it as a friend to the editor my duty to let you all know what has been done in Scott county.

The summer has come and gone.

This has been a good year to live in; fruits have been plentiful in this section. The weather has been, as a rule, neither too hot nor frost flavor. The year's first growing months were over wet and not hot.

The planting and growing season was about an average of goodness and badness. Crops were planted, and they grew. Those who worked will have enough to eat.

Those who fished and loafed will find their gravy thin on the bottom of the skillet, and biscuits thinner.

The fact is, life on the farm or off is it pretty much what you make it. If a man is trifling, his crops will be the same thing in this world will even up themselves whether other things are favorable or not. No one need fear of being cheated in this world. Life will even up on him as the rains and sunshine even up on the fields and farm. Some even up on a jug of sorgum and a jug of whisky as the other fellow does on a million dollars in bank and pancakes and preserves every day on his table, and pound case in the pantry. It is not what we get in this world that makes us most happy, but what we expect to get. To come down to the plain, solid earth, the big question is, "What are we, and where are we at?" The fact is, mankind has been half lost in this wilderness world ever since our old first mother went to fooling with tree paddlers and pet snakes.

Excuse me, I may be a little off my text. I am like lots of our great men, I will wander away from my text, and what I started to say the turnips sowed in July, wet or dry, are at the present having a very hard time to mature.

We are needing a good rain for stock water cases—a rain or grass and turnips perish. The katydid has hushed her song and the chirp of the cricket is now heard in the fire corner and fence row. The bug and the beetle are on the hunt for their winter home.

November days will soon be here; they are not the saddest of the year by a long shot, for the fullness of the year's harvest has come and the boy bulls his walnuts and gathers his popcorn. The flicker and chipmunk find their homes and fill them with nuts and seed for winter. Oh no, the chill November days are not bad for them; the corn goes into the crib, the apples in the cellar, and the cider in the barrel, and the pumpkin waits for the pie.

All seasons and all times and all ages have their harvest of plenty and pleasure, and their season of harvest and winter. When nature sleeps, man and land rest. Nature never dies; she only sleeps. The seeds of this year live the next year and produce their kind—either in garden, field or forest.

I would like to say a few pungent words in regard to the present election we had here, and the political conditions, but as they are bad enough, I will nurse my wrath and let my love till another time, and I will tell of my experience on a box car close from a freight engine running over a mile a minute.

Yours with friendship. W. S. B.

Mills.

The stove mill started up last Monday in full blast. They have a good stock on the yard, and staves are coming in lively.

The beautiful front yard of John H. Mills, at the mouth of Buckeye, was the scene of a swell gathering Sunday. All the neighbors and their friends assembled there to have their beauty snatched, as they term it here. All enjoyed themselves in good old mountain style.

Moving seems to be in order just now. Henry Miller has moved, or partly moved, to a house at the mouth of Tracy branch, and Jeff Hubbard has moved to a house just above.

Tommy Slusher returned Monday to take charge of the school, after a visit to homefolks.

The Bargo Hotel has changed proprietors again, and is now under the management of Messers. Mason & Saul. It is now run on the American plan, and everything is strictly up to date.

Earl G. Saul spent Sunday on Bear creek visiting friends.

Frank Warren, our entertaining merchant and postmaster, did a rushing business Saturday and Sunday, as it took lots of candy to get sweet pictures of our pretty girls, and Frank knows just how to mix it for them.

Mr. George Johnson and wife, of Pineville, are visiting his sister, Mrs. Ike Miller, on Buckeye.

We had a shooting match last Saturday at the mouth of Laurel branch, and as usual David Mills took the cake.

CHARLEY.

Wm. Martin, deputy assessor, has been out this week and reports success.

Miss Mattie Jarvis, who left here to visit relatives in Tennessee a few days ago, was reported to have been wounded in the wreck on the Southern railway last Saturday morning.

John Miller and family, who left last February for Texas, and going down to the plain, solid earth, the big question is, "What are we, and where are we at?" The fact is, mankind has been half lost in this wilderness world ever since our old first mother went to fooling with tree paddlers and pet snakes.

Several of our people have returned from the Association near Girdler, and report a nice time.

Mrs. John Miller is very low with malarial fever this week.

Millard Abner, who has been very low with typhoid fever, is improving very fast.

E. E. Miller, who has been very low with malarial fever, is convalescing.

W. F. Dozier is in the lead at this place for Sheriff. We believe he would be safe in saying he will carry it unanimously.

Milan Martin, of near Bailey's, was visiting friends near this place Sunday.

Misses Alabama and Rachael Abner are visiting relatives near Hopkins this week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Parrott and Miss Ross Doss, of near Bailey's Switch, passed through this place en route to Blackwater, Laurel county.

Messers. M. B. Sasser and Bruce Hale visited relatives at this place Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Zackie and Miss Hallie Miller are on the sick list this week.

Several of the boys were out on a courting expedition Monday.

Lewd Women Arrested.

Last Sunday Deputy C. C. Byrley arrested two women near the railroad and brought them before the Police Court upon a charge of lewdness. One of the women gave the name of Rhoda Gordon, and the other, who claimed to be a sister, gave the name of Mrs. Johnson, and claimed to be the wife of Fred Johnson.

At the time of the arrest they were in company with three colored boys, or men, and the man Johnson was with them.

They were very abusive when arrested and indulged in all kinds of profane and obscene language. They were taken before Judge Bain and the evidence heard.

The Gordon woman was fined $20 and cost, and the Johnson woman $10 and cost, while the man, Fred Johnson, was fined $10.75.

Being unable to pay the fine they were all confined in the county jail.

It is said that the character of the woman is very bad, and if all reports are true, they should not be permitted to remain in a civilized community.

TWO BLUEGRASS FARMS FOR SALE.

I have in my hands for sale the following farms in Madison county: The two farms of Mrs. J. W. Smith, the first known as the Huguenot place and containing about 270 acres.

This place is well fenced, well watered and is in good condition in every way, having thereon a dwelling and all necessary outbuildings, one large barn and several small ones, large yard orchard, cistern and everything that goes to make a comfortable home. Fifty acres in cultivation, and a fine pasture.

The second, known as the Carr place, adjoins tract No. 1, and contains about 480 acres; residence, good fencing, cistern, barn, orchard, and is well watered; 100 acres in cultivation, and the rest in blue grass. Both of these farms are on turnpikes, and are within half a mile of school-house, and 1 1/2 miles from church and postoffice. This is first-class land, in a good community, and is a money maker to the one who buys it.

State News.

A plan to poison the entire family of Judge James H. Mulligan at Lexington last Saturday night, miscreant only by the colored boy who weakened just as some of the members of the family were about to partake of the poisoned salmon.

The negro was placed under arrest and charges that a near relative of the family is at the bottom of the affair and that the motive was to secure the estate which has recently passed into the hands of Mulligan.

Chester Hensley attempted suicide in the Williamson jail, where he was confined for chicken stealing. He tore strips from a blanket and made them into a rope, which he tied to an iron beam and around his neck, then jumped from a chair. He was cut down in time to save his life.

Considerable damage was done by a rain and wind storm at Henderson.

Judge Carroll upholds as constitutional the State appropriation of $15,000 in aid of the Kentucky Children's Home.

The Republicans of the Fifth Appellate district will meet in Lexington, Saturday, October 1st, to nominate a candidate to oppose Judge Cantrill in the race for Appellate Judge.

It is reported that A. F. Byrd, the prosecuting attorney who so vigorously prosecuted Curtis Jett and Tom White for the murder of J. B. Marecum, in Jackson, is now a "marked man," and his life is constantly in peril.

A Local Option election will be held at Gray's, Knox county, today, to determine whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold in that precinct.
